

PRINCIPLES from Peter's life

Pair these up with stories and passages from Peter's life - and add your own!

Fishing for fish is a vocation, fishing for men is a faith journey.

Walking on water is crazy, believing you can reveals a really deep trust.

Sometimes even the strongest faith grows doubting or weary.

If you walk closely with God you will probably be sifted (tossed up in the air to separate wheat from chaff).

If you walk closely with God you will probably be corrected.

If you walk closely with God you will probably be blown away (often).

Peter learned lots of great stuff from Jesus and spent the rest of his life acting upon what he saw.

When you swing a sharp sword you can catch the ear of others.

Just because you walk with God doesn't mean you won't be short-sighted about yourself (blind spots).

If you listed all the miracles Peter witnessed during the public ministry of Christ it would amaze you.

When Peter writes from his experience walking with God it is nothing short of amazing (1 & 2 Peter).

When God teaches you about forgiveness (and shows it toward you) you are never the same.

Sometimes God has to speak to you through nighttime visions to get your attention.

When you grow up as a Jew sometimes God has to broaden your perspectives.

A moving object is easier to direct one way or another, even though it can crash sometimes.

Faith is like a rock - and God can build on a strong foundation of faith.

When God prepares you for something it is good to work in your own neighborhood.
